

The Word Did It All

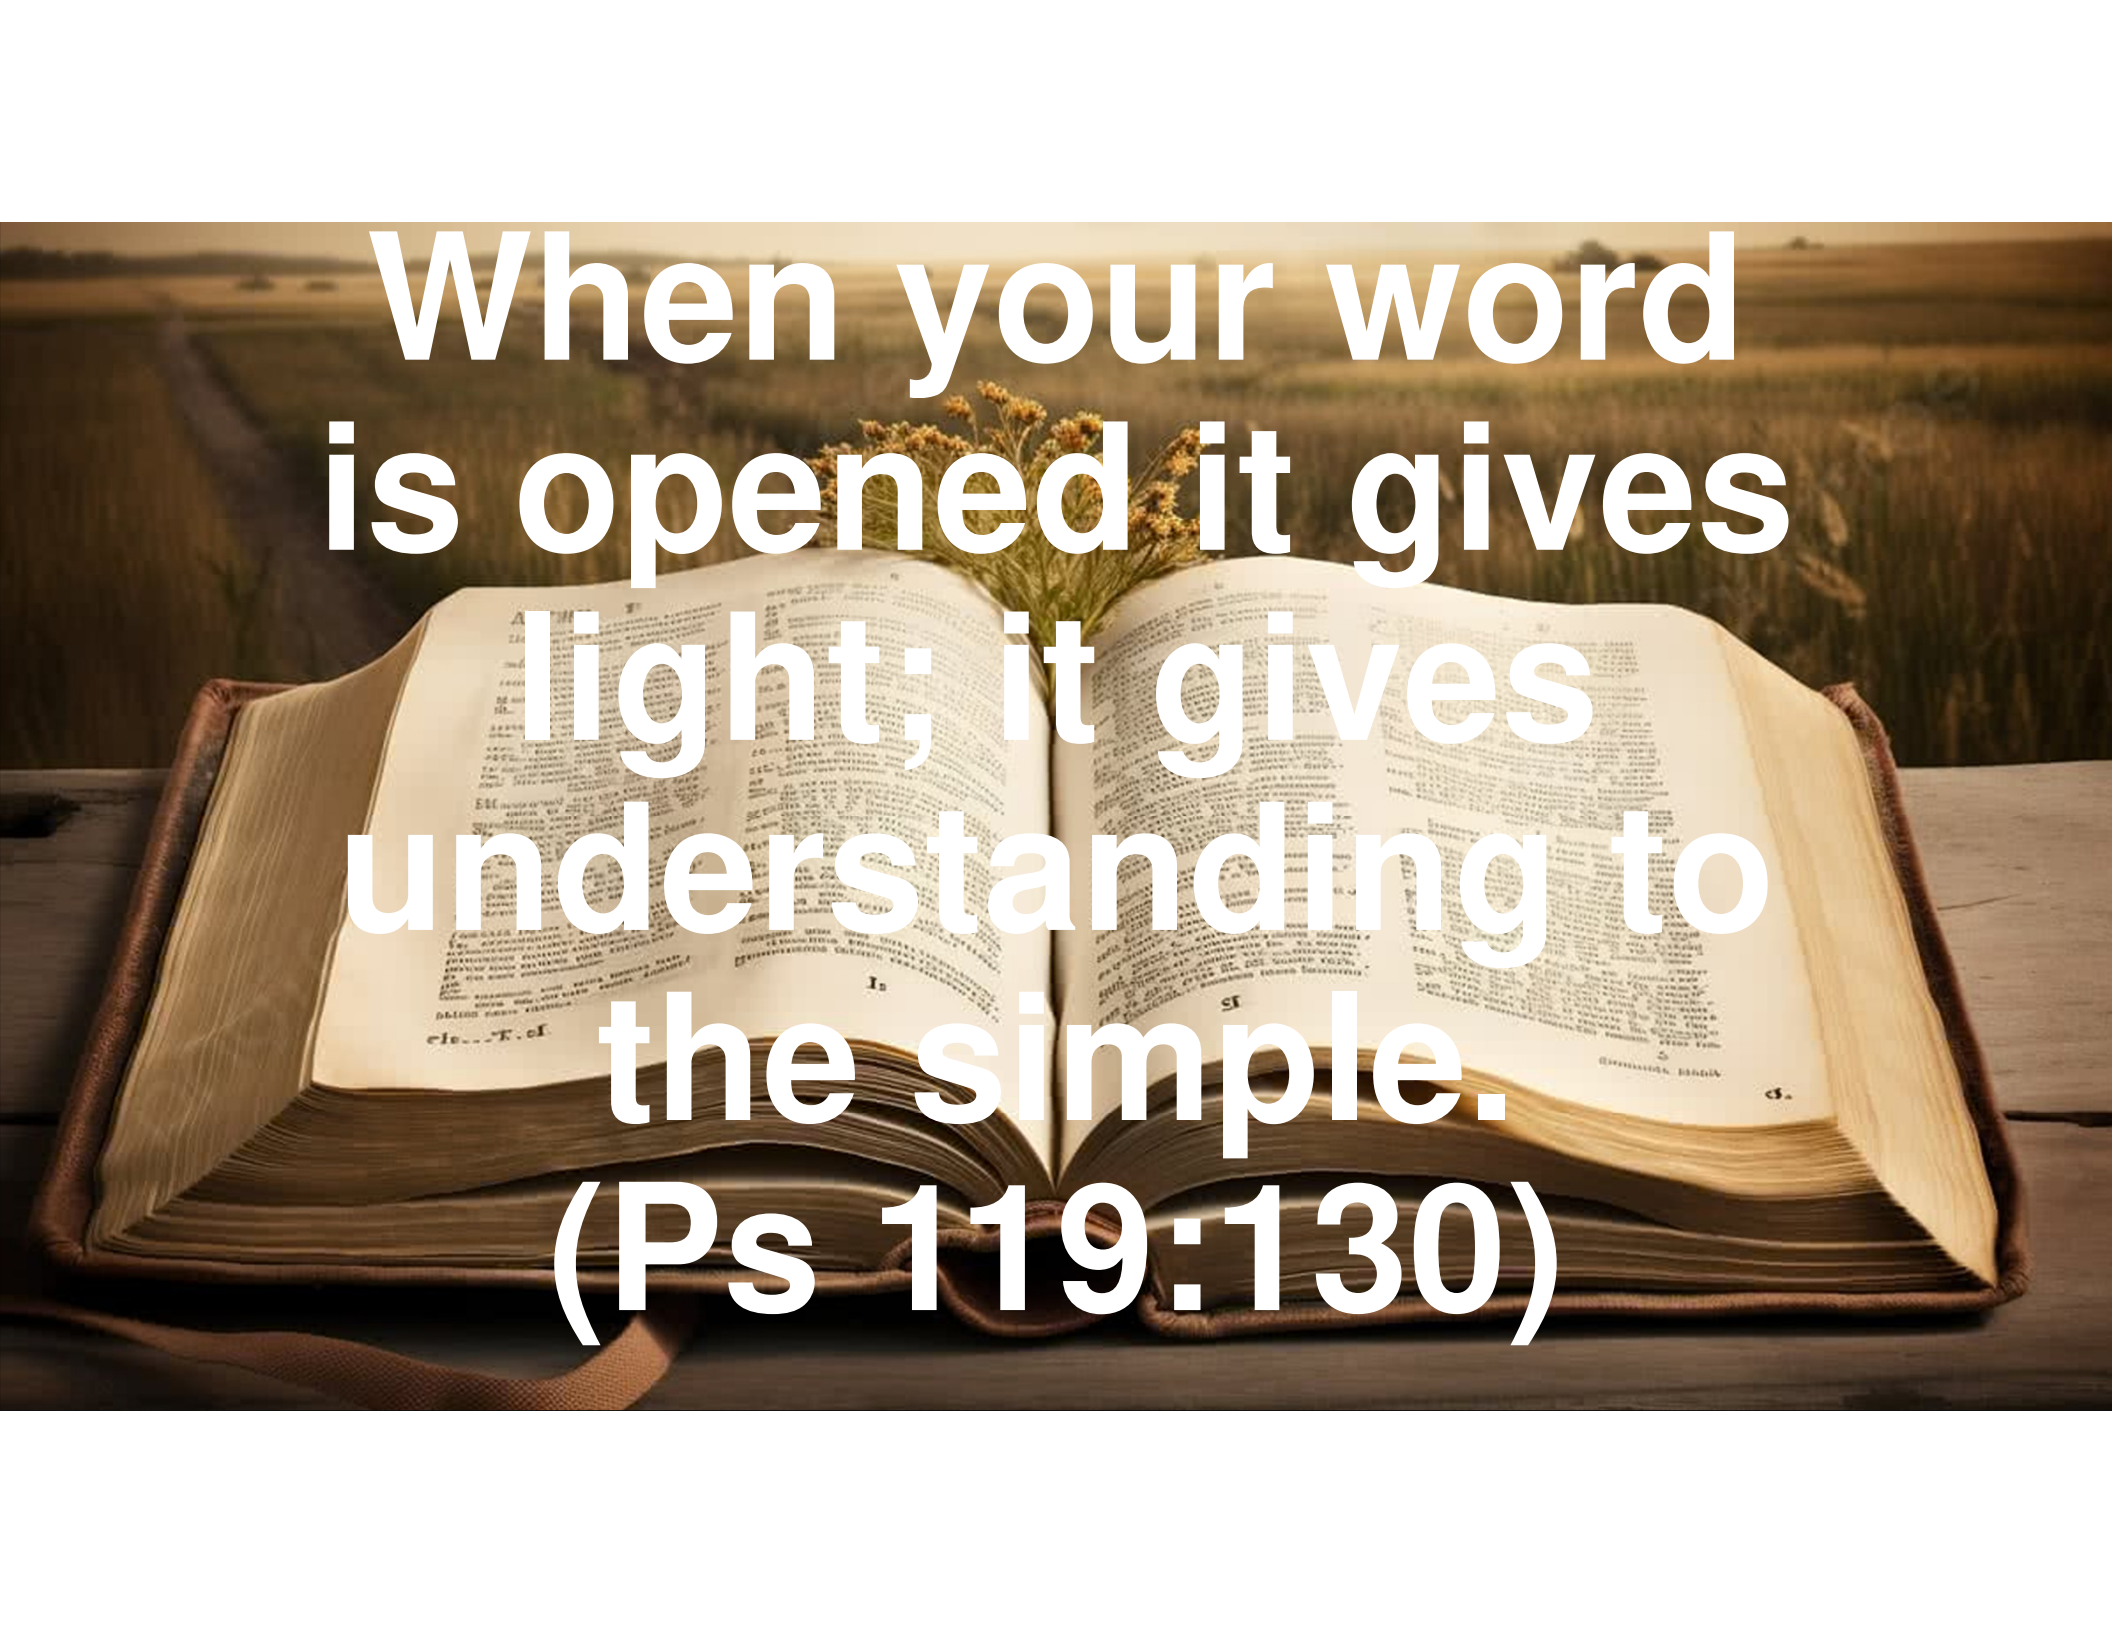

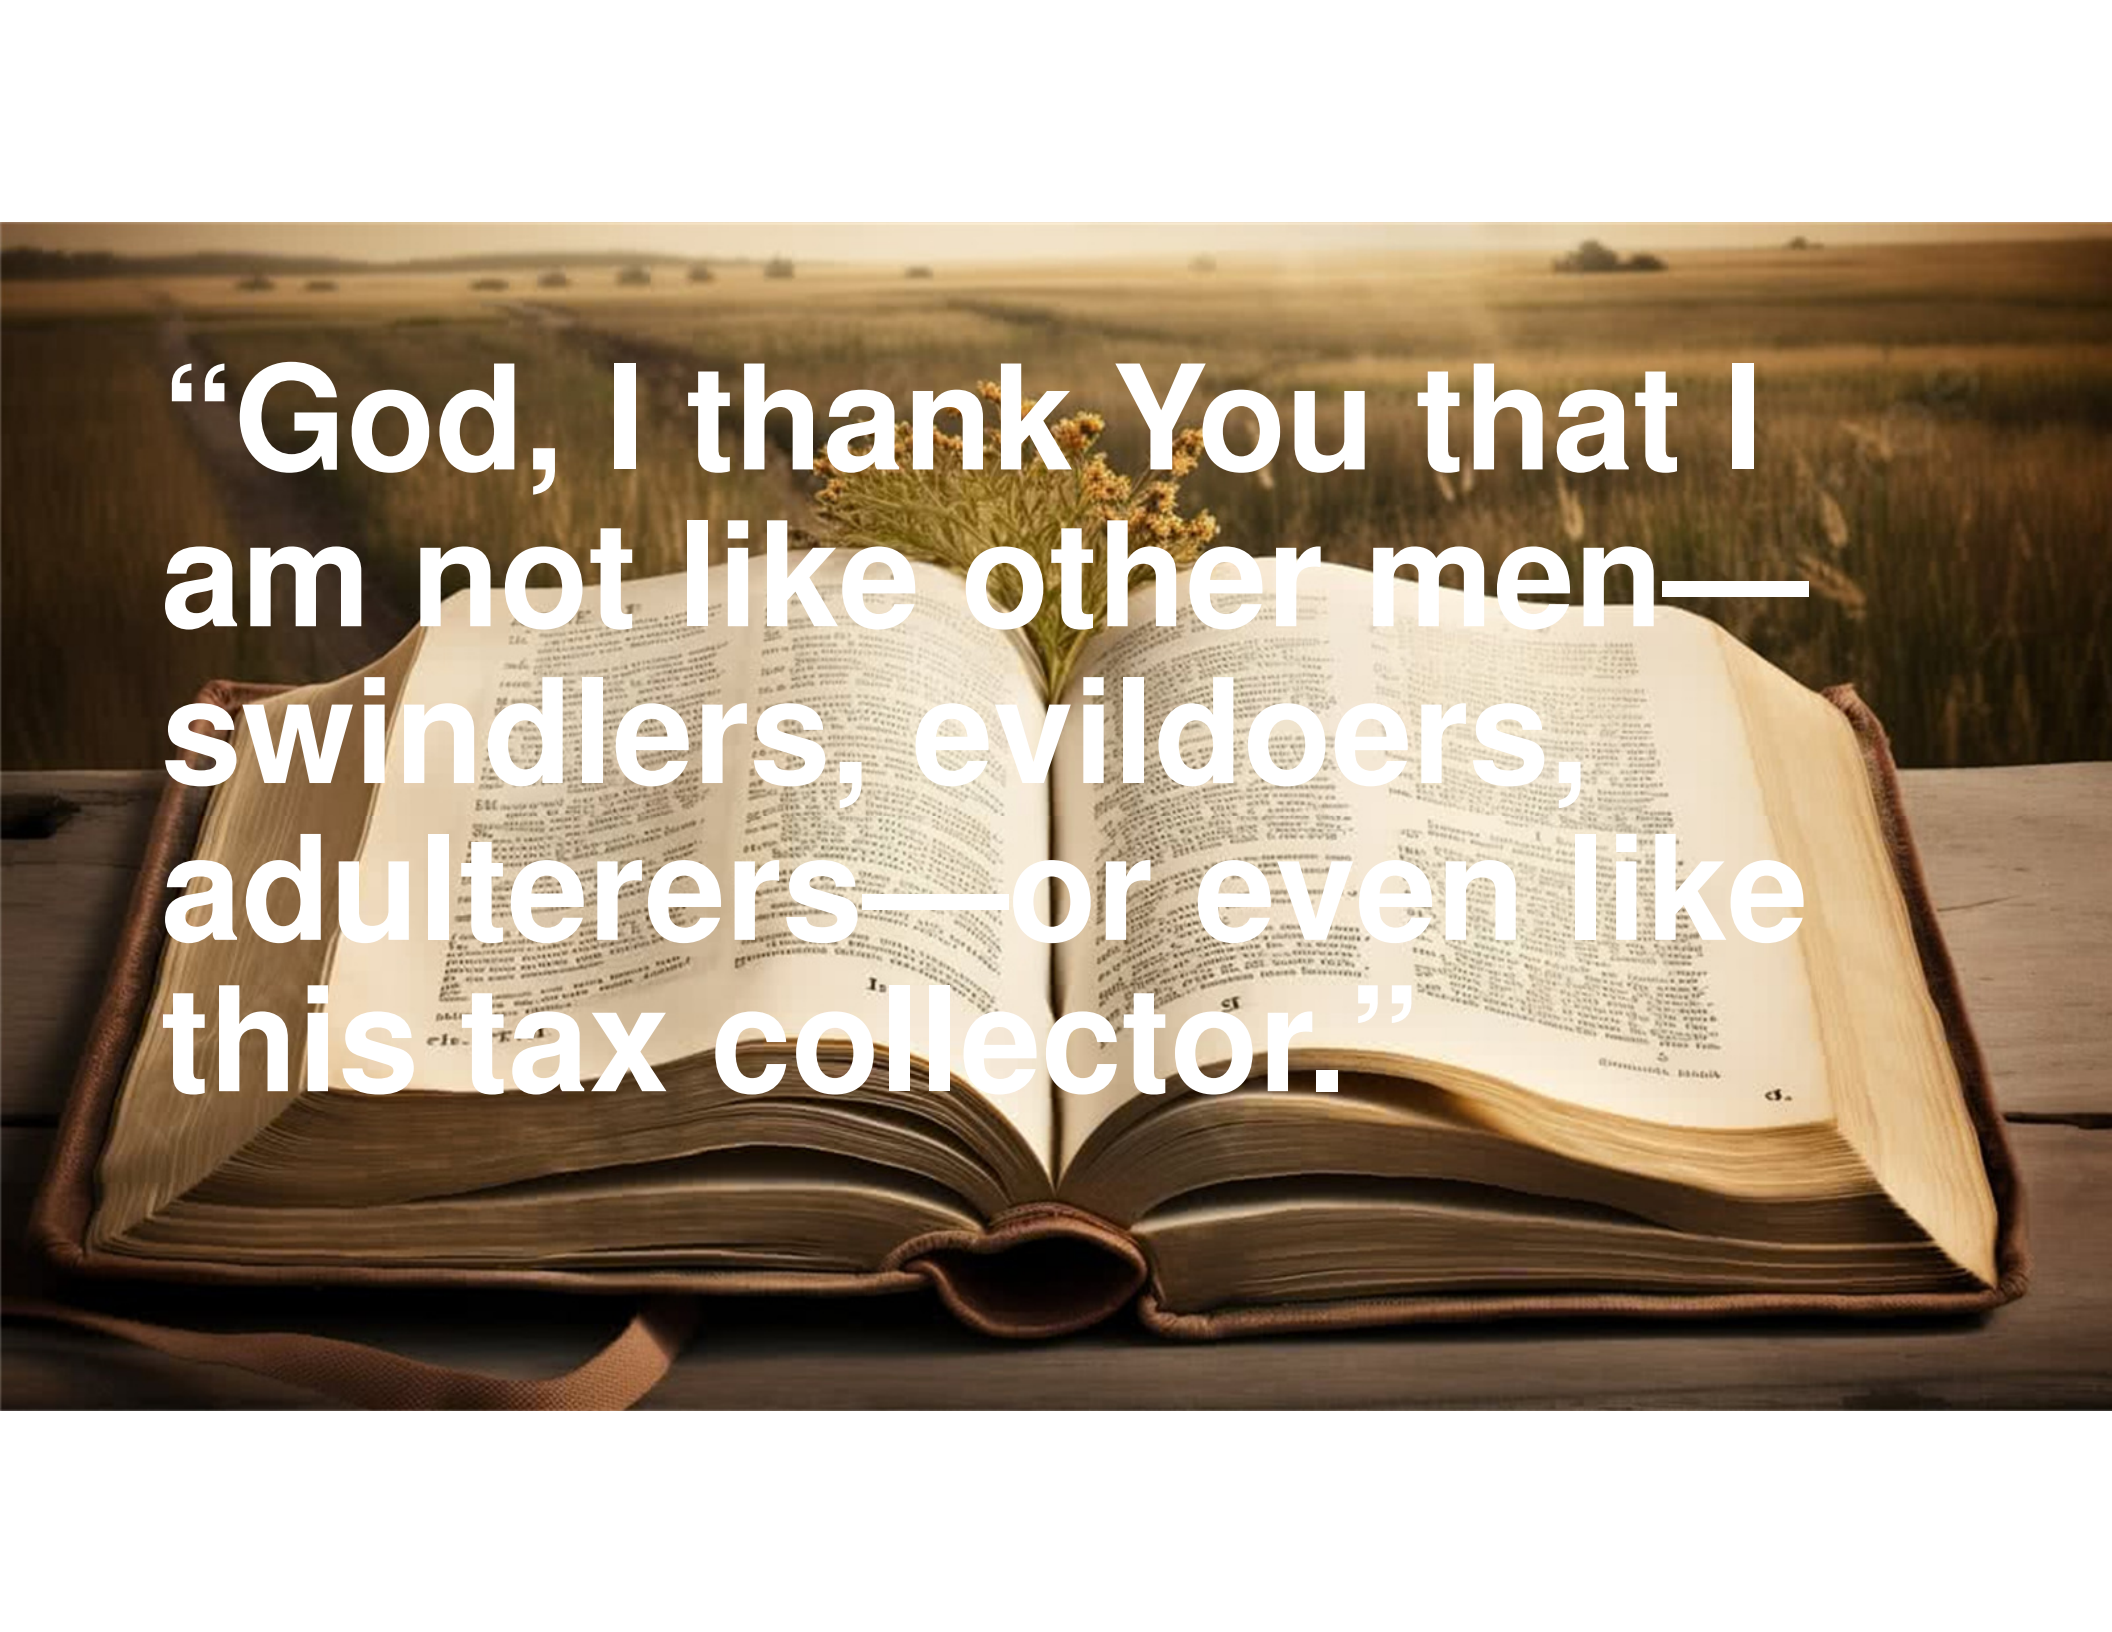

An open book with a small plant growing from it, set against a warm, golden background. The text is overlaid on the image in a large, white, sans-serif font.

When your word
is opened it gives
light; it gives understanding to
the simple.
(Ps 119:130)

An open Bible with a small plant growing from the center, set against a background of a golden field at sunset. The text is overlaid on the Bible pages.

“God, I thank You that I am not like other men—
swindlers, evildoers,
adulterers—or even like
this tax collector.”

A large, upright stone monument, possibly a memorial or a marker, stands in a grassy field. The stone is light-colored with some darker, possibly carved, areas. In the background, there are rolling green hills under a blue sky with some clouds. The text is overlaid on the image in a large, white, sans-serif font.

“Then Samuel took a stone and set it up between Mizpah and Shen and called its name Ebenezer; for he said, ‘Till now the Lord has helped us.’” (1 Sam 7:12).

“O LORD, you will
ordain peace for us,
for you have indeed
done for us all our works.” (Is 26:12).

I did nothing. The Word did it all.
